The Update

This update fixes two bugs. The first bug was a horribly dangerous reference to an unused register that only bombed on a MacPlus. I think it should have bombed on every machine but it only showed up on my Plus. The second bug involved improperly initialized globals that once again, only reared its ugly head on my Plus.

The other change is the addition of an icon for the desktop and a startup icon. It uses the classic 'ShowInit' do-dad. If you want to disable the startup icon, use ResEdit and remove the INIT called 'ShowINIT' (Surprised?)

Again, I say that many cool features could be added, such as normal movement while the option key is down, etc. These are left as an (HA-HA-ha) EXCERSICE TO THE REAER!

Many thanks to Freek "the Pistol Major" Wiedijk at the University of Amsterdam for his help. He designed and added the icon, as well as uprooting my floating register bug. Thanks again, Freek!

PS. Bob is cool.
