

Why update?

YENCO.COM continuously strives to improve our products. When users send in bug reports we try to promptly duplicate and fix the issue. When users ask questions we try to determine why the question was asked and if something needs to be done in our software to address it. When users make suggestions we try to include them whenever possible. When Apple introduces new technologies we try to integrate them into our products if applicable. When we are going through our software, we are always on the lookout for ways to refine the code and user interface.

These factors typically culminate in the release of an update or upgrade. By downloading and installing the newer version you are getting the best product YENCO.COM currently has to offer.
