1.2 Workbench Boot Pictures Volume #3 - Introduction

Introduction

This is now the third and in my opinion the best collection of Workbench Boot Pictures that I have released for the Amiga.

Workbench Boot Pictures are simply a collection of IFF pictures for use with Joseph Luk's fabulous program, 'BootScreen', to display a nice start-up image while your Hard Disk is booting.

'BootScreen' is a program which allows you to display an IFF picture while the hard drive is booting, much like the Microsoft Windows logo on the IBM's.

I was influenced to draw these pictures after seeing the "rip-off" Microsoft Boot Pictures that were floating around and I thought the Amiga deserved it's own exclusive Boot Screens.

So, I started work on some Boot Pictures that was exclusively "Amiga", and related more to the Amiga OS, with this collection including pictures for the latest Aniga Operating System, AmigaOS 3.1.

These pictures were drawn by hand exclusively with Deluxe Paint V with colour touch ups and effects done with Art Department Professional 2.1.3 and Digital Illusions 1.0.

Although these pictures were designed in mind of OS 3.1 users, you may change the OS and Release numbers to suit your own system (Please read conditions in Copyright).

This volume contains many more pictures than any of the previous distributions which have many variations of one particular style. Please refer to the Discriptions section of this guide file for more details.

1.4 Workbench Boot Pictures Volume #3 - Requirements

Requirements

To use these pictures you will need:

- * Either A500/A500/A1500/A2000/A2500/A3000 (16-Colour Pictures Only!)
or
A1200/A4000 (All Pictures!)
- * OS 2.0 or better
- * A Hard Disk
- * 'BootScreen' Version 2.2+ by Joseph Luk.

'BootScreen' is available on Aminet in the utils/boot directory.

1.5 Workbench Boot Pictures Volume #3 - Installation

Installation

Firstly, if you have not done so already, you will need to install 'BootScreen', follow the instructions accompanied with the program related the Install procedure.

After extracting the WB_BootPics3.lha file (well you must of got this far if you are reading this guide!...), you will see a number of .IFF files, choose the pictures you want and copy them to your SYS:Prefs/Presets directory. You can do this from the CLI by typing;

copy <path containing WB_BootPics3 directory> SYS:Prefs/Presets

Or alternatively using a Disk Management Program Like Directory Opus.

After copying these files, load the BootScreen Prefs program in the Prefs directory of your SYS: partition and choose the desired Boot Screen Picture. You can choose the 'Test' Gadget to preview the picture you want, then press 'Save' for BootScreen to save your options.

And thats all there is to it!

so next time you boot you machine, your desired BootPicture will be displayed.

1.6 Workbench Boot Pictures Volume #3 - Acknowledgments

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank Joseph Luk for the support he has given me in distributing the first collection of Boot Pictures with BootScreen 3.0.

I would also like to thank Mark De La Gardie and Vince Paoletta and the general Amiga community for their feedback and suggestions for improving the 'Workbench Boot Pictures collection' from previous releases and my pre-release pictures.

I would also like to thank Urban Mueller at Aminet for making my pictures publically available on Aminet and including the first collection on Aminet CD 5 and the second collection on Aminet CD 6.
