

Hypothetical Objects

COLLABORATORS

	TITLE : Hypothetical Objects
ACTION	NAME	DATE	SIGNATURE
WRITTEN BY		August 22, 2024

REVISION HISTORY

NUMBER	DATE	DESCRIPTION	NAME

Contents

1	Hypothetical Objects	1
1.1	Index of Hypothetical Objects	1
1.2	Lilith - a second moon for the Earth?	1
1.3	Nemesis - a companion star to the Sun?	1
1.4	Neith - a moon for Venus?	1
1.5	Vulcan - an intra-Mercurial planet?	2
1.6	Planet X	2

Chapter 1

Hypothetical Objects

1.1 Index of Hypothetical Objects

Throughout history, there have been a number of planets or solar system objects that astronomers have believed to exist at one time, but whose existence are now doubted.

Lilith
Neith
Nemesis
Planet X
Vulcan

1.2 Lilith - a second moon for the Earth?

This information is not provided with the demonstration version of "The Digital Universe". Please consult Ordering The Digital Universe for more information on how to obtain a registered version.

1.3 Nemesis - a companion star to the Sun?

This information is not provided with the demonstration version of "The Digital Universe". Please consult Ordering The Digital Universe for more information on how to obtain a registered version.

1.4 Neith - a moon for Venus?

This information is not provided with the demonstration version of "The Digital Universe". Please consult Ordering The Digital Universe for more information on how to obtain a registered version.

1.5 Vulcan - an intra-Mercurial planet?

This information is not provided with the demonstration version of "The Digital Universe". Please consult Ordering The Digital Universe for more information on how to obtain a registered version.

1.6 Planet X

This information is not provided with the demonstration version of "The Digital Universe". Please consult Ordering The Digital Universe for more information on how to obtain a registered version.
