

A closer look at gap opening

The migration has been suppressed so that you can better see the evolving structure as the gap opens.
The filaments feeding the planets are particularly clear.