PDFView lets you view and print PDF documents. Further more PDFView implements most of the hypertext functions defined for the PDF format.

The only slightly hidden function is the zoom cursor. You can zoom a rectangle by halting the alternate key (this uses to be right Alt on PC keyboards) down. And you can abort this function by pressing the right mouse button. In the preferences you may replace alternate by control, which uses to be the Ctrl key.

PDFView works cool with Librarian. Hint: Use build index in Librarian to seed up search.

Much pleasure
