

Game License Agreement

266379_PixelRule.tiff ,

Since HighScoreEditor is a part of the gamekit, it falls under the license restrictions for the gamekit. As a brief restatement of said license is the following:

This software has been released as "modified freeware". This means that you are granted permission to freely copy and distribute this software without restriction. However, you may not charge any fee for distribution above and beyond your actual cost of distribution. In addition, you must make the source code for this application available to anyone to which you distribute the application. If you wish to use code from this application in your own applications, you must either release your application under the GNU general public license or contact the author ;Author.rtf; for permission to use an alternate licensing scheme, which permission must be received in writing before you are allowed to distribute your application in any way other than as specified in the GNU license. (Basically, if your application may be used free of charge by anyone, then fine. If you expect money for your application±shareware or commercial±then you owe the author a small licensing fee; contact the author for details.)

There are no warranties of any kind, express or implied, to anybody. You will be provided, free of charge, the latest version of the gamekit, of which this application is a part, by sending two blank high density floppy disks and return postage to the above address. The author cannot afford to return disks that do not include return postage! All users on the gamekit mailing list will be notified of any future software upgrades, updates, and releases, via the e-mail address provided. (Click here for information on signing up: ·) If you do not have access to e-mail send a SASE with your registration and the author will send you information regarding current and future releases. Please send the author any address changes so that he is able to inform you of new releases. The author of this software will not be responsible for any damages, consequential or inconsequential, resulting from the use of this software. HighScoreEditor is provided "as is" with no additional warranty, express or implied, beyond what is specifically stated here.