

Your rogue halts your advance with a hiss. Small slots dot the wall to your side. Looking carefully, the rogue has noticed some tiny darts, ready to spring in your direction. It's a trap!

You rip small pieces of cloth from your belongings, and stuff them into the slots. Then, you can advance onward, leaving a disabled trap in your path.