

The trunk is filled with travellers' rations and a few throwing weapons — you guess they take it along whenever they go marauding along the river.