What is Shareware?

Shareware is a marketing concept that allows you to try software before you buy it. As a user, you obtain a copy of an unregistered application from a shareware dealer, a CD-ROM, a BBS, an online service, a users group, a store, or even a friend. You are allowed to use the software and decide if it is useful to you. After evaluating the software and you decide you are going to continue to use it, you are required to purchase the software by paying a registration fee, usually directly to the author. Registration will get you a registered copy of the application and, usually, other benefits like - documentation, free software, free upgrades, or technical support.

The overhead costs involved with marketing software as "shareware" are much lower than conventional marketing methods. This allows businesses to set very competitive prices for their product, and it allows small and new businesses, who can not afford to market their software commercially, to release their product to the public.

Shareware is a convenient and inexpensive way to purchase quality software. Please support shareware by paying the registration fees of all shareware applications you use.

Free Evaluation Copies!!!

PhoneMate

PhoneMate is an all-purpose address and phone database that provides access to multiple files. You can create files for business contacts, friends, family members, etc. and each PhoneMate file can maintain up to 10,000 entries.

Quickly navigate through your entries by clicking on the entry names on the list, or find entries by searching for text in the entry or in the entry name.

The fully customizable interface lets the user select screen colors, screen fonts, list orientation, tool bar visibility, and status bar visibility.

PhoneMate also features an auto-dialer, file merge capabilities, printing of entries, and full on-line help.

DiskTemplate

DiskTemplate is a useful, easy-to-use tool for creating and updating installation diskettes for your programming projects.

The manual method for creating and maintaining installation diskettes is often tedious and very laborious. DiskTemplate, with its easily understood interface, makes this process easy and fast. To use DiskTemplate, simply, select the files you want to distribute, designate a few options, and tell DiskTemplate to make your installation diskettes. It's that easy! DiskTemplate will make as many copies as you want, and the copies will be updated as your project is updated.

A "template" stores all the file information about your installation disks, and can be retrieved with a few mouse clicks. Each template can store up to 250 files and will support projects with up to 50 installation diskettes.

DiskTemplate also features full on-line help, which will answer most questions about standard operations, and a disk and file report, which will give you a hard copy of important information about your project installation set.

DiskTemplate is designed to use the Microsoft Compression Utility, the preferred method of compression for programmers of Visual Basic, Visual C++, and a few other Windows development platforms.

ZipTemplate

ZipTemplate is a fast, easy-to-use utility for updating regularly created ZIP files.

Originally designed to be used by shareware authors, this utility can be used by anyone that constantly updates the contents of a ZIP file. ZipTemplate, with its simple interface, makes this process as easy as a few mouse clicks. To use ZipTemplate, simply, select the files you want to be ZIPed, designate the location and name of the ZIP file, and tell ZipTemplate to go!

ZipTemplate will store all the file information about your ZIP file in a template, each template storing up to 250 files. When your files are altered and you want to update your ZIP file, simply start ZipTemplate, open the desired template, and re-make the ZIP file.

ZipTemplate also features full on-line help, which will answer most questions about standard operations, and a file report, which will give you a detailed hard copy of important information about each file in a template.
