

Adding more nodes

We now return to our risk model. So far we have introduced only one node, the “Revenue” node. A natural question then is to ask:

Which parameters influence the revenue?

According to the marketing research, the two main revenue contributors are the production cost and the selling price. To incorporate these into the model we create one node named “Production cost” and one named “Selling price”. Click twice on the “Product” button in the toolbar.