Regression line

The scatter plot shows a high degree of linear dependence, or correlation, between the selling price and the revenue. Not surprisingly, when the number of chocolate bars produced increases, the total selling price and the revenue will increase.

To focus this linear relationship, we could add a regression line to the plot by clicking the regression button.