

Go to node...

Displays a dialog box with a list of nodes and folders in the top level directory. From here you can navigate manually by double-clicking names of folders until you find the node you are looking for. Select this node, click "OK", and the folder containing this node will be opened.

Get node...

Displays a dialog box with a list of nodes and folders in the top level directory. From here you can navigate manually by double-clicking names of folders until you find the node you are looking for. Select this node, click "OK", and this node will be moved to the active folder.

Note that if the active folder is locked, this command is dimmed.
