

Find node...

Displays a dialog box where you can enter various search criteria. After you have entered this, you can let DynRisk search through the active model document for nodes satisfying the chosen criteria. You can also specify what DynRisk should do when a node satisfying the criteria is found.

Find again

Searches for the next node satisfying certain criteria specified using the "Find node..." command. By repeating this command, you can run through all nodes satisfying the criteria.

Note that you may alternatively press Command-Shift-F.
