

Abyss: The Pitted Lands

You will find many pits in some parts of this land. They are used to breed the countless thousands of demon spawn the demon lords use as food and fodder in their wars.

At X:17 Y:16 you will come upon a party of Rothian Giants who are attacked by winged demons. Make friends with the giants after the battle and accompany them to their city to the east. There you will meet with the king and be charged with finding their lost army of griffins.

In the Rothian city you can pick up a couple of giant NPCs. One is a drunken guide who is of little value as he will run from battle after only the slightest of damage. The other is a valued warrior and will aid you well in battle.

Southeast of the city at X:79 Y:54 you will find a pit that leads to the griffins you are to rescue. Inside the pit are huge tentacled beasts that grow on the ceiling. If you have any Rothian giants with you they will be eaten as they are too large to avoid the tentacles. Teltnuag (A Rothian giant) is skilled enough to avoid the tentacles and will not be eaten. This area is known as The Land Of Red Ooze. To get there go to X:77 Y:61 and search the south wall. It is a passage that leads to The Land Of Red Ooze.