

ersonal Information and Billing Information.

AOL checks all sorts of information entered when creating an account. They check to make sure the state, zip code and area code are in correct, and also if the ACH transit number corresponds with the bank it says it does. So to make the account look as real as possible I have included a list of cities with their state abbreviations, their zip code, their area code, and some local banks with their ACH transit number. So all the necessary information has been provided to you, all you need to do is make up a fictitious name, street address and phone number for the hacked account. BTW, all the cities listed below have more than one zip code, this is perfectly okay, and it shows that the cities are rather on the large size, so you know they are not some hick town with 4 people in it... Just another measure to make the account look more realistic. The cities are listed in alphabetic order by state, then city.
