Bypassing old versions of onguard using onguard (hehe)
This is fun, I always used to write "CA SUCKS!" CA is my school... and sometimes I would post gossip about all my enemys there- its pretty fun :-)

What you are going to do:

You are going to have some fun by making a stickies message appear at startup!

What you need:

A computer that you want the stickies message to appear on when it starts up.

What to do:

Usually in the apple menu on the computer- even in AtEase or OnGuard they have stickies still launchable. Well open stickies, make a new stickies message that you want to appear at startup (best to make big lettering and make it fille the screen) and then go under one of the menus and select "Preferences" Then select "Launch at system startup". Now quit and then the next time the computer starts up, thats what the computer will show.

How not to get caught:

Make sure no teacher is around. Make sure you dont write your name on the note- make sure nobody knows who did it- :-)