These are just theories, and haven't been tested. They should work. But if the site is crooked, then it might not.

Most porn sites and Adult Verification networks pay pornsites for getting them members. Usually it's around 80% of what they first make off the person. So if you make a quick porn site, join whoevers ad program, then join through yourself, you'll only pay about 20% of the real price. Of course you have to be over 18, or have a credit card. But it's still worth it. Sometimes (like with Xpics) you'll actually make a bit, or get an extra month of free porn.

To make some money from this, you'll have to find a site that pays you more for the membership than they charge the person for the first month. A few sites give people trial time, AND pay you. But not many sites do that. Xpics

(<http://ads.xpics.com/xcash/>) is the only site I know of that does. They pay you

$25 per membership even if the person cancels after their 21 day trial time. If you do this enough, they'll arrest you for fraud, and you'll be spending your Saturday nights with Bubba your cellmate... :^)

For free images, you can get some from Xpics (<http://ads.xpics.com/xcash/>),

You can also get some free images from
