

Welcome to the Library.

This Repository resides on a server on one end of a neighborhood LAN, located west of Mt. Hood in the heart of the Cascadia bioregion.

Please take note...

E-text is no substitute for a book, is not portable without great expense, and only serves to further an author's exposure.

We by no means have all books written by any one author, so there will always be more to discover for our patrons in a traditional library or bookshop.

If the Library receives complaints of copyright violations, it will be taken to mean that even education and the sharing of knowledge is a crime, and this will remove any possible moral standing your argument may have, for you made it via a method that was provided for you by the very qualities you are attempting to suppress.

Think this over, using the dusty mental tools of reason, logic and analytic thought, then get back to us with any criticism.

Policies:

Download all you like. There's plenty of (currently) uncapped bandwidth.

Please share what you download. Spread the Knowledge.

No returns necessary at the elibrary, thanks to modern technology.

Do you like what is going on today? Do you worry about the future...are we headed for another Great Depression, thanks to the usual suspects? Are we going to turn on the news tomorrow and see another conspiracy unmasked, another blow against freedom, another scandal uncovered, another back-room deal brought to light...?

What is happening, and why must it play out this way? Where did things begin to deviate from that seemingly inevitable road to the stars.....?

People seem to be making purposefully stupid decisions, even when well informed. Glaring facts are ignored, covered up. Blame is shifted around until NO ONE takes the heat....not the politicians sucking our blood, not the CEOs picking our pockets, not the megacorps spewing licensed toxins into our biosphere, no one.

Except us.
Year after year after year...

There are so many better alternatives, better methods and ways of doing things....

The pace of history is picking up. We've been riding an exponential curve of change upward and we're just about to hit the steep stretch that soars to infinity. The human race is headed for a Horizon. A solid wall of change so dense that nothing will stand unaltered by it.

It should be just beginning to arrive. You can see hints and glimpses here and there, but not the volume that should be present. Searching on the web, one finds endless wondrous devices and methods that have never become common practice, or fully developed.

All those things people thought they'd never see in their lifetimes are right around the corner. All the benefits promised by High Technology are finally arriving. Cheap clean power, efficient housing and transportation, self-sufficient microfarms, floating cities both on water and in air, cheap access to space, a global infogrid, nanotechnology and machine enhancement imminent, with practical immortality right behind them.

This Paradise is in danger of being lost to us, if the Power Structures that exist today resist the flow of history and attempt to force the human race to a path of Their choosing. For their exclusive gain. Their fear of change leading us down a dead-end toward extinction. Away from the distant stars and the beckoning depths that could be ours. Retarding the flow of human development, and denying us further growth as individuals and as a species.

But their hold is not yet firm. Their monitoring networks not yet omniscient. We can still prevail. There is hope for preserving our future, for growing...but the many factions of freedom must work together.

Gather information from this Library. Check the web for the Republic of Cascadia, cascadia in general, and the Free state project. Visit orlingrabbe.com, free-market.net, antiwar.com, the list goes on. Look up the Moller Skycar, Monolithic domes, seasteading and Intentional Communities. Visit jnlabs.org, antiwar.com, lfc.net and follow links where you find them. Wondrous things are waiting just around the corner! We're not the only ones. Don't be afraid to speak up about how you feel, call attention to what you see. Put up posters, hand out flyers, build websites. Use alternative money (DMT Rands, NORFED). Use biodiesel & Stirling solar power. Build a network with your neighbors, use wireless to link to friends further away (www.personaltelco.com). Share knowledge, set up barter databases on your neighborhood LAN, grow a garden. Meditate. Practice consensus-building.

Become Self Sufficient to the best of your ability.

Think always about what awaits. Don't settle for this existence, only a pale shadow of what this world could be.

Do you value honor, integrity, freedom and prosperity?
Fight the tyranny, ignore the media, the hype, the bad times and bad leadership, and join us in Cascadia.
Help to build a new society founded on freedom.
Join our struggle against the grey, dreary and unimaginative world and become truly free.
