

If you exercise your right to read or write whatever you damned well please or to protest the insanity of what the government is doing ...

... as guaranteed by the Constitution ...

... then the terrorists will overwhelm us.

If you attempt to carry your weapons - guns, knives, nail clippers, or whatever - in order to defend yourself, your family and friends, and your community ...

... as guaranteed by the Constitution ...

... then you are a public menace encouraging terrorism.

If you try to protect your money, your papers, your home, your body from unwarranted and causeless scrutiny and seizure ...

... as guaranteed by the Constitution ...

... then you are a terrorist sympathizer.

If you support the right of everyone - citizen or not - to a trial by jury, legal representation, and due process against an omnipotent state ...

... as guaranteed by the Constitution ...

... then you should be classified as an enemy combatant.

If you assert your right to be left alone and to do whatever peaceful activity you want without the permission or intrusion of the State into your affairs ...

... as guaranteed by the Constitution ...

... then you are a loathsome traitor deserving of whatever nastiness befalls you.
