LTSN Bioscience Resource Pack

Enclosed is a draft LTSN Bioscience Resource Pack. The pack is intended to provide subject-specific material to complement the generic information delivered in staff development courses, and in particular, post graduate certificate courses. As well as highlighting the support available to individuals from LTSN Bioscience, the pack also lists publications, journals and websites specific to bioscience education. A substantial proportion of the material is concerned with laboratory and fieldwork as we feel that these are the areas where bioscience education differs most from other subjects.

Feedback: We would welcome your comments and suggestions about the concept and content of the pack and have enclosed a short feedback form for your ideas and comments.

Ordering Packs: We will send you as many packs for distribution as you would like - free of charge. If you respond by 26 July 2002 we guarantee to despatch your pack(s) by 2 September, in time for the start of the next academic year.

LTSN Bioscience Staff and Educational Development Contacts

Please help us to contact the right people! You can find out who we have contacted and amend the contacts at your institution on-line at: <http://bio.ltsn.ac.uk/sed/> or by contacting LTSN Bioscience. This section of our website is private - you will only know of this correction/update facility if you have been sent this URL by LTSN Bioscience or the information has been forwarded by a colleague.

Staff and educational development activity may be spread across more than one department or unit in your institution and we may not have contacted everyone. Please forward this information to colleagues.

Copies of this Briefing, the draft LTSN Bioscience Resource pack, order form and feedback form are available from the Staff and Educational Developers section of the LTSN Bioscience website:
