

Dialing Options and Personal Prefs

Article Created: 2 November 1993

TOPIC -----

When I dial a local telephone number, the area code is shown in the call slip. I checked the Local Dialing Information dialog box and the local area code is set properly.

Also, when I dial a long distance number, a "1" is not appended to the telephone number.

Why is this?

DISCUSSION -----

Both of these situations are caused by settings in your MessagePad's Extras drawer. To ensure that telephone numbers are properly displayed, follow these steps:

- 1) Tap the Time Zones button in the Extras drawer, then tap your location on the world map.
- 2) Tap the I'm Here button, then tap X to close the window.

Also, be sure that the Country blank in the Personal and Locale Preferences is set to your home country.

Copyright 1993, Apple Computer, Inc.

Posted to:
Newton
World Of Newton
Support Information
Support Tips
February 25, 1994