Speedometer 3.06

by Scott Berfield

Speedometer 3.06 is shareware. That means that if you like it and use it, you have an obligation to pay for it. The registration fee is $30.00, and buys you documentation, upgrades, and general support that I do not make available for non-registered users. If you are a member of the computer press, the fee will be waived if you simply include a business card with your registration form. To print the form, simply click the Print button below.

This program may distributed freely, but it is NOT public domain. I maintain all rights to the code and visual representation thereof. You may NOT distribute this program in any commercial format without my express written permission. This includes disks of shareware and freeware for which a fee is charged (with the exception of Macintosh User's Group libraries), and the inclusion of the code with hardware products.

To Register, fill out this form and send it, along with $30.00 to:
