

You may load the WordPerfect macros, ALTK.WPM (katakana) and ALTH.WPM (hiragana) in your WordPerfect Subdirectory. You may then invoke them from within WordPerfect pressing [ALT+H] or [ALT+K], respectively.

For both Hiragana and Katakana, I have used the same rules in using romanji.

With the exceptions below, I have used the Hepburn System of romanji.

Enter one syllable at a time after ALT+H or ALT+K and be sure to use CAPITAL letters.

Enter "OO" after entering KO, SO, TO, etc. for a "long O" sound.

For Hiragana symbol #80 or Katakana #180 (which should be pronounced "O"), enter "WO" so the program can distinguish it from Hiragana #4 and Katakana #104.

The program also handles "Yoon" such as "RYA", "NYU", "KYO", and "PYU"

For double consonants (such as in "Nippon"), you need to enter "DC" before the doubled syllable. For example, with "Nippon", you would type (using Hiragana, in this example):

[ALT+H] NI [Enter]
[ALT+H] DC [Enter]
[ALT+H] PO [Enter]
[ALT+H] N [Enter]

Yielding, にっぽん.

Finally, if you want the typical Japanese period (。), Type:

[ALT+H] . [Enter]

HIRAGANA

Press ALT+H to invoke.

Should place the macro, ALTH.WPM in the Wordperfect Subdirectory.
