

GhostWriter NBA 1.1 by Michael O'Keefe

This NBA allows text to be automatically typed into a text field one letter at a time, as if a ghost was sitting at the keyboard.

Just type in the text you want to appear in the text field below. Type the '@' character to have GhostWriter type the delete key.

At any point in your message you can change the speed of the typing (the default is 5 letter per second) by enclosing a speed command in curly brackets. The different speed commands are:

fastest

- this will go as fast as your computer can faster

- this will type 20 letters per second fast - this will type 10 letters per second normal - this is the default, 5 letters per second slow

- this will type 2 letters per second slower

- this will type 1 letter per second slowest - this will type 1 letter every 3 seconds

You can also choose which text field the text will go into by enclosing the name of the field in curly brackets. (If you don't choose a text field the text will go into the currently active field)

©Copyright Roger Wagner Publishing, Inc. 1993-94
All Rights Reserved