Moving Files, Locating Drives

There are multiple ways you can organize and customize your files via their icons in Windows 95. This can be done with either the mouse or the keyboard.

Moving your mouse over an icon in a window and left-clicking highlights the icon. After it is highlighted, you can right-click the mouse to bring up a menu of options. One option is Send To (5), which allows you to send the highlighted file to drive A or the Briefcase. Another option is Delete (6), which will send the file to the Recycle Bin. You can also delete highlighted items by selecting Delete (7) under the File menu.

Under the Edit menu is the Select All function (9), which allows you to highlight all the icons in the window. This allows you to move or delete many files at once.

Another feature of a window is the Toolbar. On the Toolbar are various icons including the Delete (4) and Map Network Drive (8) icons.

Use the Delete icon to remove highlighted items.

The Map Network Drive icon is very useful to those on a network. If you left-click on the Map Network Icon, a dialog box opens with three options.

Map Network Drive		? ×

² P ath:	•	Cancel
3 🔽 Reconnec	st at logon

The first option is a drop-down menu for choosing the Drive (1) you wish to connect to. The second is another drop-down menu that allows you to choose the Path (2) for the drive. After you have chosen the Drive and Path, you can check the "Reconnect at logon" box (3) to have your PC maintain a connection to this drive and path, even after you log off.
