• Use Startup Reorder: Disabling this option will prevent Conflict Catcher from patching the traps necessary to perform the startup reordering.   With this option off, Conflict Catcher is virtually guaranteed not to be causing your problem.

• Find Startup Crashes: When this option is enabled, Conflict Catcher can identify which startup file interrupted the startup process of the Macintosh.   This can happen from either a startup file crash, or a startup file causing an unnatural restart.   If a "crash" occurs, Conflict Catcher will open after the Macintosh is restarted and identify the startup file.   You will then have the choice to disable the problem startup file, ignore it, or start a conflict test.
