

Distance

Distance is measured in metres, m. Everyday distance measuring instruments include rules and tapes. These are graduated in centimetres and millimetres. A small length can be measured accurately with vernier callipers or a micrometer.