

Measuring acceleration from a velocity-time graph

You can measure an object's acceleration by measuring the gradient of the line on its velocity-time graph, as shown in this diagram.