

Neutral equilibrium

A cylinder lying on a surface is in neutral equilibrium. When you roll it, the centre of gravity stays at the same height, so the cylinder stays in its new position.