

The later issues of PRIVATE DETECTIVE featured several fine covers by Joseph Szokoli, including the March 1950 issue. Unfortunately, the title for "Murder Moves In" moves in on two of the cover babe's finest attributes. Considering the number of guns and bare female legs that appeared on the covers of all of the spicy pulps over the years, it is surprising that none were subtitled "Stories of Gats and Gams."