

ROMANTIC DETECTIVE was a short-lived pulp published for seven issues by Trojan Publishing Corp., publishers of the SPICY line of pulps. Neither the covers (such as this one, from the first issue, by Parkhurst) nor the stories nor the illos were as "spicy" as those found in its sister publication, SPICY DETECTIVE. Many of the authors were the same, however, such as Robert Leslie Bellem (featured on the cover shown here with "F.B.I. Spells T.N.T.") and Howard Wandrei, under his Robert Garron pseudonym (present in this issue with a short novel, "Murderess").
