

The science fiction theme continued into 1941 in the pages of SPICY ADVENTURE STORIES, with the February 1941 issue sporting a nice SF cover by Ward. Continuing our public service of listing the science fiction which ran in SPICY ADVENTURE STORIES, the following appeared during 1941: "Prisoners on Proteus" by Robert Leslie Bellem (1/41), "Space Burial" by Lew Merrill (pseudonym of Victor Rousseau, 2/41), "Temple of Eternity" by Cliff Ferris (2/41), "Lord of Space" by Hugh Speer (pseudonym of Victor Rousseau, 5/41), "Chaos and Back" by Robert Leslie Bellem (7/41), "The Last Adam" by Lew Merrill (8/41), "When Planets Mate" by Lew Merrill (9/41), "X-B 391-A" by Robert Leslie Bellem (12/41), and "Things That Were Men" by Clive Trent (pseudonym of Victor Rousseau Emanuel, 12/41).