

H.J. Ward's cover for the October 1936 issue of SPICY DETECTIVE STORIES is a prime example of the art--a scantily-clad woman in peril (and in this case, wounded), cowering while being protected by a hulking hero, wielding a smoking gun. It doesn't get better than this!