

SPEED ADVENTURE STORIES, the successor to SPICY ADVENTURE STORIES, ran for 18 issues from January 1943 through January 1946. It featured tales of adventure in the farflung corners of the globe, like its predecessor, but by this time the science fiction stories had been eliminated. The "Diana Daw" cartoon carried over from SPICY ADVENTURE STORIES as well. One other constant, of course, were the fine covers by Ward.
