

Notes on Music Titles and Composers

Due to the limitations of eight characters in a DOS filename, the MIDI filenames may not clearly identify the title. Below is a reference table of filenames and music titles.

All files are in MIDI format in two versions. One version is authored for Roland Sound Canvas, and the other version is authored for FM based cards such as the Sound Blaster series and the Media Vision Pro Audio Spectrum cards. Wavetable users should use the Sound Canvas versions.

You are encouraged to experiment with editing the files to sound better on the device you are using. Since there are a multitude of sound cards and synthesizers on the market today, no collection of MIDI files can possibly be distributed with versions tailored to each and every device. There are many software packages available to edit with. The only requirement is that the software you choose should support the sound card or interface you have and should be able to load and save Standard MIDI Files.

* indicates that these files also have .WAV versions. These .WAV files are recorded at a sampling rate of 22.05KHZ at 16-bit resolution in stereo. Due to size considerations, longer pieces are not included in .WAV format or are excerpts. These .WAV files were created using a Roland Sound Canvas and a Kurzweil Micro Piano mixed on a Mackie 1202. No equalization or external processing was used. The only effects are the digital effects onboard each instrument. This process allowed for the cleanest .WAV file production possible.
