You can compress two types of images:

- An image stored as an individual PICT file

- An image in PICT format that is contained in another type of document