Important:

When you open or click in the Help window, you make this window active and the window containing the picture becomes inactive.

Before you follow any instructions for working with a picture, click it to make the window active.