

Joint Photographic Experts Group, an international standard-setting committee that developed a method for image compression used by many computers and programs.

QuickTime's photo compression software conforms to the JPEG standard.