

The anterior sacro-coccygeal ligament is a series of irregular fibers descending from the ventral surface of the lower sacrum to the corresponding surface of the upper coccyx.