

The posterior superior iliac spines are the posterior terminations of the iliac crests and are readily palpable. They typically correspond to depressions (sacral dimples) above the buttock approximately 5cm from the midline. They lie level with the spinous process of S2 over the center of the sacro-iliac joint and demarcate the end of the dural sac.