

The external occipital crest runs in the midline between the external occipital protuberance and posterior margin of the foramen magnum where it gives attachment to the ligamentum nuchae.