

The ventral lip of C2 (axis) is an inferiorly orientated projection from the lower anterior border of the body. It is roughly triangular in cross-section and gives attachment to the anterior longitudinal ligament.