

The foramen transversarium is an opening in each of the transverse processes. It is enclosed anteriorly by the embryonic costal element, posteriorly by the embryonic transverse process, laterally by the costal lamella and medially by the pedicle. It transmits the vertebral vein, vertebral artery and associated sympathetic plexus.