

The lumbar mamillary processes are located on the posterior border of the superior articular processes and are roughened in character.

The mamillary processes give attachment to multifidus medially and the medial intertransversarii muscles laterally.