

The anterior layer of each superior costotransverse ligament extends from the crest of the rib neck to the inferior surface of the transverse process above.

The posterior layer of each superior costotransverse ligament extends from the posterior aspect of the rib neck to the inferior surface of the transverse process above.