

The lateral atlanto-occipital ligaments are lateral thickenings of the fibrous capsules of the atlanto-occipital joints. The capsule attaches to the margins of the superior articular surfaces of C1 (atlas) inferiorly and to the occipital condyles superiorly.