

The vertebra prominens (spinous process of C7) is typically the most prominent bony landmark at the base of the neck, in the posterior midline. To differentiate between the spinous processes of C6, C7 and T1 palpate the spinous processes during neck extension; the C7 and T1 spinous processes remain palpable whilst the C6 spinous process moves away.