

The cutaneous branches of the thoracic dorsal rami supply the skin of the back from the midline posteriorly as far as the posterior axillary line.