

The anterior and lateral cutaneous branches of the second thoracic ventral rami supply a band of skin around the thorax from the posterior axillary line over the second intercostal spaces extending to the middle of the first spaces above and the third spaces below, as well as skin of the axilla and medial aspects of the arms.